

"Annual Report – Essential Information The Stakeholders Want To Know"

The Annual Report is an important shareholders communication document and a vital information kit to attract potential investors to make the correct long-term investment decision. Over the years, additional disclosures are necessary to strengthen on its communicative value to all users of Annual Reports, like Management Discussion and Analysis and more recent the Sustainability Report. Enhanced non-financial information like diversity in workforce from gender classification, management grading, qualification band, race mix and age group is also now mandatory requirement.

With the growing demand for better shareholders' engagement, companies are now more transparent and forthcoming in clarifying their business model in driving sustainable value creation propositions.
